New Orleans Goes Wild Over Sullivan.

The Great Slogger Performs Son Remarkable Athletic Feats.

Proposed Fight. A Detective Accompanying Kilrair on His Southern Journey Ready to Arrest Him on Enter-ing Mississippi.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW ORLEANS, July 5.—[By the Associated Press.] At 10:30 Sullivan, Muldoon and Cleary proceeded to the Gymnastic Club rooms, where the big fellow was put through severe exercises. Sullivan showed himself in perfect condition. His rather protruding stomach has been reduced somewhat, and he showed up in better form than on his first appearance in the gymnasium. He tired out both his trainers, but showed not the least evidence of fatigue or distress Coburn and other puglists at the St. Charles are unanimous in the opinion that Sullivan will win. Friends and admirers of Jake Kilrain are disappointed by the announement this morning that he missed connection at Cincinnati. Among many who saw Sullivan at the Young Men's Gymnastic Club rooms at the Young Men's Gymnastic Club rooms yesterday, were not a few of the friends of Kilrain, actuated by a desire to see the man against whom Kilrain was to stand. Some of the best informed of these went away well satisfied, and Kilrain gained quite a number of friends.

The programme as regards Sullivan's transfer to the Spanish Fort has been changed. He is still quartered on Rampart street, opposite the Young Men's Gymnasium Club. A huge crowd has been congregated in the vicinity ever since daylight. They appear contented to watch the briek and mortar which surrounds their hero of the hour.

THE SULLIVAN OF OLD.

THE SULLIVAN OF OLD.

During Sullivan's exercise today a football filled with flour or meal and weighing 25 pounds was tossed from Sullivan to Muldoon and then back again, a distance of 25 feet. The pet of Boston delivered and received this heavy ball for 40 minutes without betraying any signs of weakness. Neither Muldoon nor Cleary could stand the test of endurance, so they alternated, taking 10 minutes of work each, while Sullivan finished as fresh as a daisy. Those who saw Sullivan hurl that ball with one hand with a velocity and force that made Muldoon stager as he received it, were reminded of the John L. Sullivan of old, whose blows struck men with the ferce of a pile-driver. Sullivan then began skipping the rope. He skipped in one-foot time, and he did it with the grace and airlness of a ballet girl. He skipped was not well by a sullivan when he could be a sullivan than the countries.

movement. This was repeated 30 times causing Cleary and Muldoon to pant am blow, while Sullivan scarcely breathed hard. A little ball-punching followed. The force and celerity of the blows amazed all who witnessed them. They demonstrated two things conclusively: First, that Sullivan can hit as hard as ever; and second, that he has lost none of his old-time lightning rapidity.

IN THE PINK OF CONDITION. Sullivan appears in the pink of condition, better than ever before in his life. He measures 42 inches around the chest, and is as deep through from breast to back as he is from side to side. There does not appear to be an ounce of superfluous fiesh on him. His flesh glows with the color of health. His back is covered with prickly heat, which causes him, however, no inconvenience. His legs from the waist to the knees are the perfection of symmetry. Below the knee they are not as perfect. Experts say, however, that his skipping exercises prove him to be very firm on his pins. His muscles are hard and firm, and his, biceps measure 10-3 inches. Altogether, his friends are jubilant over his condition, and pradicts and the convention to a conference committee of when the Committee on Boundary Line will also be appointed. It is held that there are two distinct seventh standard parallels, and Sullivan appears in the pink of condition, better than ever before in his life. He measures 42 inches around the chest, and is 1612 inches. Altogether, his friends are jubilant over his condition, and predict an asy victory.

The betting is all one way—10 to 7 on Sullivan. When Kilram and his crowd arrive, however, there may be a change.

At 1 o'clock Sullivan dined on chickenbroth, stewed chicken, rice and watermelon, and the sullivan dines of ale. broth, stewed chicken, rice and watermeion. This was washed down with a glass of ale At 4 o'clock the party again proceeded to the cibrooms. Tomorrow will be the last day of active training. Sunday will be devoted to absolute rest. KILRAIN'S FRIENDS SANGUINE. The arrival of Sullivan and the en-thusiasm exhibited by his friends in the city has in no wise dampened the ardor of tracting from their number, Sullivan's arrival appears to have increased them. It is a noticeable fact that while the central portions of the city are disposed to side with Sullivan, the upper sections of the city are largely in favor of Kilrain. A visit was paid to the rooms of the Southern Athletic Club today, and quite a number of members were found, all of whom expressed themselves as confident of Kilrain's success in the forthcoming battle. A prominent member of the club, who is somewhat of an authority in pugliistic affairs, said Sullivan was not in the trim he expected him to be in, and it was a well-known fact that he could stand but little, if any, punishment about the heart or stomach. He would not, of course, like to bet on the result, though he felt sure Kilrain would come off the victor. But he thought $100 to $80 fair odds on Sullivan, and would not hesitate to take such odds when the proper time came.

Other members of the club in support of their opinion said: "Men like Billy Madden, Arthur Chambers and Dominick McCaffrey, all of whom know both men well, would not be found on the side of Kilrain if they did not know what they were doing. Both Madden and Chambers were with Sullivan in the fight with Ryan, and McCaffrey, fought six rounds with him when he was supposed to be in his best days, and they surely do not underrate Sullivan. According to the reports received Sullivan has not near the wind Kilrain has, and he is besides entirely too heavy about the hips."

The rooms of the Southern Athletic Club, which have been set apart for Kilrain and his seconds, are very cool and pleasant, and are situated in a handsome two-story frame dwelling adjoining and owned by the club. Kilrain and his seconds will be able to enjoy creater seclusion than do Sullivan and his trainers, as they will not have to go out into the street at all to go to and from the gymnasium. Kilrain will remain in his quarters until he leaves for the scene of battle on Monday next. Kilrain is expected to arrive in the morning.

THE THE AUTHORITIES WAKING UP.

afternoon and was driven post haste to the office of Capt. A. H. Benham, commander of the Louisiana artillery. He ordered Capt. Benham to call out a company to prevent the Kitrain-Sullivan fight in the State of Louisiana.

The only stores left are those of Blumeaur & Son, O'Connor & Hogan, Gatzlan's shoe store and Coffin's grocery. There is not a restaurant, hotel or boarding house left, and there are about 1500 people destitute.

While the loss is a terrible one for a city of 4000, the citizens maintain a cheerful disposition and are determined to build more substantially than ever. The city is under patrol and order prevails.

The fire exhausted itself after burning five hours. The city presents a sickening spectacle this morning. Where long blocks of business houses stood yesterday, nothing remains but ashes and smoking embers. Scores of new brick blocks in process of exection suffered the same fate as the other buildings. Only four remain untouched. These are Mofitt's Hotel and Nash, Howgan and Smith's blocks, which were saved by being some distance from the configrration. Guards were placed around the burnt district to prevent curious people from rambling among the crumbling walls and thieves from plifering. Little thieving, however, has been done.

THE DOING OF FIREBUGS.

The origin of the fire is supposed to have been incendiary. J. S. Anthony, in whose building the fire started, says he left the store at 10:15. He had used no fire or light, excepting the electric light, and thinks indians started to fire the town in revenge for a white man beating a squaw.

President Hoyt of the Constitutional Convention telegraphed Mayor Abrams offering assistance. Assistance is certainly needed.

When the fire was burning A. S. Holbrook entered the Ashler Hotel to arouse the guests. Attempting to return, his egress was cut off by the flames, when he jumped from the third story window and was pleked up fearfully burned and bruised.

The bones of what are supposed to be the remains of one of the guests were picked up. They are so badly charred that physicians are unable to tell whether they belong to a man or woman.

Letters of sympathy and proffers of aid have been coming in all day, and this afternoon Mayor Reed of North Yakims arrived with a carioad of provisions and $1000 in money. The aid has been thankfully received. While the losses foot up about $2,000,000, the insurance is not over one-fourth of that amount.

"There is springing up just at present the bitterest kind of a rivalry between the railroad runners and the hotel men. Since the recent passage of the hack ordinance the lodginghouses have taken away much patronage from the hotels, and times with them have been exceedingly dull. Something had to be done—and it was done. The hotel man conceived the idea of becoming an agent for his patrons in the matter of procuring tickets, and putting the scheme into execution, has found it to work like a charm. He instructs his runners to ascertain slyly structs his runners to ascertain slyly who of his patrons are en route, and to refer them to him as the proper person to apply to for a ticket. This is invariably done by the traveler as a matter of convenience, and he is quickly carted off to the ticket agent's office to buy his ticket. The most arduous buy his ticket. The most arduou work that the hotel man performs is to work that the hotel man performs is to accompany his guest and pocket his commission on the ticket, which oft-times in a day's work makes a very handsome dividend. The railroad runners are rapidly finding their occupation gone, and grimly predict grave consequences if things are not changed.

The Case Against Willard Culver for Abortion. After a great deal of fanfare by Mrs. Willard Culver, demanding that her husband should be punished for attempting, with Dr. Downs of Comp-Time Card of the Santa Fe-A ton, to procure an abortion on her, the charge was finally dismissed by Judge McKinley yesterday, at the request of fall to the ground from insufficient evidence.

The facts in the present case have been detailed heretofore. It was thought at first, from the statements made by Mrs. Culver, that her husband was a vicious brute who had deliberately procured a criminal abortion on his wife, and that she was a muchinjured woman, entitled to the sympathy of the entire world. It transpired, however, that Mrs. Culver's charges against her husband were inspired by the knowledge that he had discovered her alleged criminal intimacy with Dr. Downs, and refused to live with her any longer.

The charge was brought, however, and the complaint issued, which held up Willard Culver in a detestable and shameful light in the county. Up to the day before his examination, Mrs. Culver was in conference with the District Attorney's office, assisting in procuring witnesses.

The alimony proceedings of Emily J. Paine against her husband, G. Herman Paine, again occupied the attention of Judge McKinley yesterday afternoon. THE CORONER TO LOOK INTO THE SUBJECT TODAY.

Death of a Little Child in East Los Peculiar Circumstances - No Physician Called in Because the Parents Believed in the Efficacy of Prayer.

On the 19th of June last THE TIMES

H. Phillios and Mrs. Saloy. No regular physician was called in, and nothing done to relieve the little victim's sufferings beyond "silent prayer." At the time Health Officer MacGowan made a thorough examination of the case, and did everything in his power to bring the parties to justice, but, although they charged for their services, they did not give any medicines, and for this reason in their cases were not covered by the statutes. The matter was then dropped, and nothing more was thought of it until yesterday, when it was revived in a very unpleasant manner by the application to the court is to the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. thought of it until yesterday, when it was revived in a very unpleasant manner by the application to the Health Officer for a burial permit for the child of Rev. As no physician's certificate was presented, and the cases inquiry was physician's certificate was presented, as is usual in such cases, inquiry was made, when it was stated that the parents of the child believed in "divine healing," and for this reason had not called in a doctor. On this statement, the Health Officer notified the Coroner who ordered the funeral postponed until an investigation could be had, and the responsibility for the child's death determined.

As a preliminary step, Coroner Meredith ordered a post-mortem examination to definitely settle the cause of death, and yesterday afternoon Drs.

MacGowan and Ainsworth held an analysis recome of Mactowan and Alisworth feet an autopsy at the undertaking-rooms of Nickerson & Chase, on Second street, between Spring and Main. The body was that of a pretty boy child, aged about three years, and was well nourished. On examination the throat showed that the entire windpipe was filled with the diphtheritic membrane, and that the child had died from a typical case of the dread disease. As soon as this was settled, the body was prepared for burial, which will take place after the inquest, which will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when all the facts will be brought out.

Immediately after the autopsy a TIMES reporter called on Mr. Shepherd, the father of the child, who was found at the house at No. 73 Workman street. Mr. Shepherd said that he was a minister in the Holiness Church, and was here holding a campmeeting on Chestnut street. He said that his home was in Santa Barbara, showed that the entire windpipe was Shepherd was very anxious not to be classed with the professional "Christian scientists," saying that he might just as well be put in the same category with Spiritualists, but insisted that he merely put his faith in Jesus, as did other Christian people. A FORCIBLE REMINDER.

Three Well-known Physicians Arrested for Violating Ordinances. Ever since the passage of the ordinance requiring physicians to report cases of infectious and contagious diseases to the Health Officer, and to put out placards on the infected ho announcing the fact, there has been more or less trouble about getting physicians to obey the law. There is no doubt but what in the great majority of cases the failure to report is ity of cases the failure to report is more an oversight than a disposition to wilfully violate the law, but the fact remains that the provisions of the ordinance have not been carried out. By way of a reminder, Health Officer MacGowan yesterday swore out complaints against Drs. J. C. Kirkpatriek Wheeler and Manning for failure to report cases of diphtheria at Nos. 248, 233 and 236 Philadelphia street. Warrants were issued for their arrest, and they were brought to the police station, when they deposited $25 cash bail each, and were released.

Dr. Wheeler states that he has no cases of diphtheria under his care, and has only seen one case in consultation with another physician, and that therefore the issuance of a warrant against him was an error.

Mr. Hardesty filed an affidavit last week alleging that he could not get a fair trial before Justice Savage, because the latter is prejudiced against him. A Wilmington row was up for solution before Justice Savage yesterday afternoon. It was a case of disturb-Angeles from Diphtheria Under pretty much all the members of two families, whose houses adjoin each other at Wilmington.

The witnesses all tried to see how diverse and antagonistic their evidence could be, and one colored man in a long linen duster, and hands like hams, asserted that the fence between the two women was only two feet high; also, that there are no fences in Wilmington more than two feet high. He was willing, he said, to "hold up to this statement." John Smith, a man with a strong Irish accent, attempted to give the words used by the combatants, which were in both the Italian and Spanish

The Court then cleared the lobby. Mr. Smith viewed the battle from a neighboring haystack, and his description showed that it was an all-around, give-and-take mélée.

The defense argued very earnestly in favor of a dismissal of the charge, but the Court denied it. The testimony for the defense had just begun when court adjourned.

His Case Continued Until the Tenth.

The trial of Frank Toal, for brutally cutting his wife, was reset yesterday for July 10th. It was to be tried today, but on account of the engagements of the attorneys in other cases new pending, was reset for next week.

She had been brought into court in order that it might be made certain that she will apppear when her brute of a husband is tried. Mrs. Toal is not at all anxious to testify in the case. She was instructed by by Judge McKinley to be sure and attend upon the trial of the case, and she said in a subdued voice that she would. She was then permitted to go, and Toal went back to iail. PASADENA, July 5.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] B. J. Cook, the auctioneer, who is now under arrest awaiting trial in Los Angeles charged with extortion, is being tried today before Justice Van Doren, in conjunction with three horse dealers, named James Low, James Phillips and Charles Meinhardt and William Young, book-keeper hardt and William Young, book-keeper for Cook. The complaining witness is J. D. Barrie of this city, who, on June 22d, was victimized, as he alleges, to the amount of $82 in the purchase of a large gray horse, unsound and unfit for use. During the trial, which lasted all day, it was developed that the scheme of selling horses was not only a novel one, but was practiced in the way of buying and reselling the animals, at each time a commission to be paid to Cook and a dividend declared to the rest of the confectates. The method adopted was to sell the animal to some dupe, and then one of the hounty on the trial where the test of the confectates. The prosecution was pushed by Prosecuting Attorney McLachlan, while G. A. Gibbs, Esq., represented the defense. The first person called was the plaintiff, J. B. Barrie, who testified as follows:

"I bought the borne at Calbia.

"I bought the herse at Cook's cor-ral, and it was tied up in a corner of the wall, hitched to a large wagon with another horse. Phillips said he owned the horse, and, as he was anxious to leave the country, he said he would sell it cheap. Rheinhardt said the horse was in his hands to sell, and that it was a sound animal. James Low once owned the horse, and he said it was sound. The horse was the said it once owned the horse, and he said it was a sound. The hore was put up at anction by Cook, who said it was a very good one, and that a trial could be made until 40 clock, when, if not satisfactory, money would be refunded. Cook said he would give a written guarantee. I bid $82, and gave Young, the clerk, $20 on deposit. Phillips afterward could not be found, when I went in search of the owner. Cook said I must give the balance of $62 before I could get it. A trial was now made, and Rheinhardt swung the horses around in a circle, but would not let me drive."

He also described the meney transaction in paying for the animal, and afterward its being spirited away. In conclusion, Barrie testified considerable fun had been made of his purchase by friends of his as he was driving the animal toward Pasadena, one of whom made the laughing remark, "It would not live until it got home;" that Meinhardt, when he came back on the following Tuesday, tried to swap it, with the remark that it was no good and had been sold the week before for $52; that he afterward went to Cook to have tim fell its tip.

The first party for the defense was B. J. Cook, the auctioner. He testified that parties for whom he sold were not allowed to bid; that he never saw for sale in his yard a sound horse, and never guaranteed the one he sold Barrie; at this time I would give $65, as the week before I sold it to Meinhardt for $85; Barrie gave me a check in his wife's name, and asked of another bill off the corner was 10 feet, but on rigid cross-examination would not swear it was over four feet. THE CONSPIRATORS GUILTY. At 5:45 o'clock this afternoon the evidence in the conspiracy case was all in, and at that hour Deputy Disall in, and at that hour Deputy District Attorney McLachlan began his plea for the prosecution. The testimony of the remainder of the defendants was of the same nature as those who had previously given their side of the story, all of which was of a laughable nature. Mr. McLachlan gave a brief résumé of the contraictory statements of the defendants, the history of the transaction as outlined and the continuous testimony that the borse Discrimination Against Veterans. About 30 veterans from the Soldiers' Home came to Los Angeles to cele-brate the Fourth. They were compelled to pay full fare both ways on the Los Angeles and Pacific Railway, notwithstanding the fact that the company advertised a 50-cent roundtrip rate from Los Angeles to Santa Monica and return; the tickets to be good coming up on the 3d and 4th and returning on the 4th and 5th, and to be for sale "at the depot, on trains to be for sale "at the depot, on trains and at the company's general office" in this city. A delegation of the veterans called at the Times office yesterday and entered complaint, as above, on behalf of themselves and their comrades. They said that they were perfectly willing to pay for the whole distance to Santa Monica, though they got on at a station this side of there, but objected to being discriminated against in favor of others, who were given the benefit of the lower rates. I have used the Cuticura Remedies with the best results. I used two bottles of the Cuticura Resouvery, three boies of Cuticura Rosa, and am oured of a terrible skin and scaip disease known as psoriasis. I had it for eight years. It would get better and worse at times. Sometimes in the second worse at times, the second rose is the second worse at times. Sometimes may be a second worse at times. Sometimes we have the second rose with scales. My arms were covered with scales from my elbows to shoulders, my breast was almost one solid coab, and my back covered with sores varying in size from a penny to a dollar. I had doctored with all the best doctors with no relief, and used many different medicines without effect. My case was herediary, and, f-began to think, incurable, but it began to heal from the first application of Cuticura.

Since the recent article in TIMES on the work being done in our orange orchards by the vedolia cardinalis, a number of orange-growers, who had received colonies of these bugs but had failed to note any beneficial result therefrom, have made closer investigations, and in every case have found that the parasite has increased wonderfully, and is hard at work on its hereditary enemy, the white scale

The horticultural commissioners visited the Workman and the Briswalter orchards, and failed to find any of the adybugs, but a subsequent visit from Messrs, Wolfskill and Craw disclosed large numbers of the parasites, from which it may be judged that conclusions should not be too hastily drawn from a cursory inspection.

Mr. Wolfskill has just received a letter from James Craig, the wellknown horticulturist of Lamanda Park, who writes, in a very jovial frame of mind, to say that the sever dozen vedolia which he had received from Mr. Wolfskill on May 1st, and which had been placed on an . orange tree in Mr. Craig's orchard, had increased, until he now estimates their number at 7000, this being the third generation since May 1st. He writes that, for a time, he was very despondent, failing to notice any signs of increased activity on the part of the ladybugs, and feared they had fallen a prey to birds or other insects, or had, perhaps, been poisoned by the "filthy vashes which the pseudo-chemical fiends persuaded us to murder our trees with, not so very long ago," but a thorough and extended search disa distance, and Mr. Craig now looks white scale in his orchard, within eighteen months.

In view of these facts, it would certainly be very foolish to continue spraying and cutting back our orange rees, just as this useful parasite is beginning to give a good account of itself. All the vedolia now needs is a fair field and no obstacles; this it is certainly in our interest to afford her. There is no necessity to send to Australia for any more bugs. There are enough here already to insure an increase sufficient to exterminate the icerya in the city within twelve months, and in the county within two years. In the case of some trees, which are very far gone, it may be necessary to cut back in order to give the tree increased vitality, but this is by no neans the rule. Doubtless, the horticultural commissioners, on reconsideration of the subject, will come to the same opinion as that which we have expressed, and which is shared by every orangegrower who has given our Australian ladybug friend a fair trial.

A BIG MUNICIPAL CLEAN-UP.

There is one advantage which Euro pean forms of government have over ours—that is the facility with which they are able to undertake great mu nicipal improvements, without waiting a score of years to overcome the objec tions of a few unprogressive fossils. When Baron Haussmann pulled down several thousand old houses, to build magnificent boulevards which are the pride of Paris, it was thought to be a pretty big undertaking, but the city of Naples has just entered upon a gigantic cleaning up, which throws al previous efforts in that line in the shade. Naples is the most thicklypopulated city in Europe, and has been noted as the filthiest and most unhealthy. You have doubtless understood that the trustees of the Hospital Association have a moral and legal right to the cantrol of the hospital work which has been built up by them with untold sacrifice of time and money and vital energy, and you have shown this in many ways. Under the laws of the State of Illinois this right cannot be questioned. The charter of the Hospital Association vests the management of the corporate business entirely in the board of trustees of the association, and the laws of this State (as of all others) provide for the prosecution in the name of the State of any person who intrudes into or usurps authority in any corporation organized under a charter granted by the State. Mr. Bliss stated that he was not one of those who believed that the Grand Trunk Railroad should be pravented at this late day from doing business in the United States, provided, however, that they were subject to all the rules and regulations to which American roads are subjected. He had no personal knowledge that Canadian roads were making reduced rates, but it was the general opinion they were. If they make reduced rates to individuals, he considered that they falled to comply with the provisions of the interstate commerce rules. If the system granting subsidies to Canadian roads was continued, it would be an injury to Boston in so far as it would divert trace from Beston.

Canadian roads was continued, it would be an injury to Boston in so far as it would diver trass from Boston.

In raply to a question of Senator Biair, Bliss claimed that if it was just to regulate American roads so that they cannot compete with the water lines, it is just also to regulate Canadian roads so that they cannot prey upon American roads after the latter are tied up.

Senator Blair tried hard to make President Bliss say that if Canadian competition was removed the roads would surely increase their charres, but witness would not do so, stating that if the Canadian roads were subjected to the same regulations as American roads, the latter would have to take their chances in the competition. He was not disposed to think Canadian roads the public benefactors that the people thought them.

President Choate of the Old Colony road said that his road was probably less affected by the Interstate Commerce Bill than any other road in the United States. He doubted if any law regulating the competition of Canadian roads could be enforced, though it would be a good thing to subject them to the same laws as our roads. How to do this he did not know. did not know. Certainly not by legislation. He believed there had been an increase of business over the Canadian line since the passage of the law. The competition of Canadian roads was an advantage to New England. He was in favor of permitting the Canadian lines to run through New England under the same regulations as our roads. The exclusion of their cars would be unfair. He did not think the interstate law would ever be enforced. The long and short haul clause was wrong. Some system of pooling would be the best thing.

After recess, C. S. Mellon, general traffic, manager of the Union Pacific, said that the competition his road felt in connection with Canadian lines was in transcontinental business. He quoted from Canadian Pacific figures to show an increase in its traffic, and said that this was due to too large differentials allowed the Canadian Pacific If differentials would come in as a free lance and make such rates that no road could do business at a profit. They could afford it on account of the Government aid.

Each of the three judges delivered a separate opinion based upon the particular case before him; but the cases were all precisely allke in the points involved, and the conclusion reached by each of the judges were the same, towit: That while the board continues to furnish quotations to any one, it must furnish them to every one willing to pay for them.

Judge Smith, attorney for the Board of Trade, moved for a modification of the injunction. He wanted the injunction to read so that the board would be at liberty to open the flood gates and let all have quotations or to quit business altogether. The Court, however, declined to modify the injunction, announcing that it would be time enough to decide the subsequent questions when the board determined upon its line of action.

[Monrovia Messenger.]

We would just like to put the San Diego editors onto a deep-laid scheme of the newspaper men of San Pedro. 'Tis said that these wicked journalists are entreating editors in this section to put off their annual bath until they go down to San Diego; that the "great unwashed" (meaning the editors—you know) go into the water together near the mouth othe channel, and wash themselves whiter than snow, and somewhat after the principle of Little Bo Peep's sheep, come home and leave their dirt behind them. It is anticipated that this would fill up the bar and block the channel so that dredges would have to be set at work before that new line of China steamers could get into port.

ing and advertising breweries, saloons and low-down "dives."

The presence, in an industrial parade, of a score or more blear-eyed, drunken wretches, with ugly, distorted features and perverted souls, guzzling beer and other liquors until they become disorderly, and also give it to perhaps a dozen or more little boys not more than from 10 to 14 years old, until the poor, misguided children actually reel and stagger under its effect, to say the least, is shocking, an insult to decency and a disgrace to any city over which floats the American flag.

Can it be that the representative men of Los Angeles, composing the committee having that part of the programme in charge, have no thought or regard for the influence, for good or bad, surrounding the boys of this city and county—their boys, yours, Mr. Editor, and mine? and will not the influence of the press (which is generally, as an influence in molding sentiment and principles in a community, greatly underrated) of Los Angeles be exerted on the side of sobriety, morality, intelligence, temperance and common dedency, against that which is the cause, more than all other influences combined, of the mental sufferings and ills of which the American people are heir to.

SUVENILE TEMPERANCE DAY AT THE ASSEMBLY.

An Attractive Programme-Songs Recitations and Addresses-The Los Angeles Band of Hope-Today's Programme.

The Alliance Assembly still continues to draws large crowds. Rev. George L. Cole states that enough tickets have been sold up to date to make the season a great financial suc-

The people of Southern California have long wanted a place where during the warm weather they might spend a few weeks in attending some institution of learning and alse enjoy the pleasure of the seashore. In Long Beach they have found it. Here they can attend the alliance and listen to some of the most able lecturers and speakers in the country, and also go down on the beach, gather shells, try their luck at fishing, take a bath and inhale the pure breezes coming over the waters of the grand old Pacific. The Whittier Band of Hope, num-bering 23, under the charge of Mrs. Harris, furnished the literary and musical exercises yesterday morning.

The Tabernacle was well filled, The proceedings were opened by the Band of Hope singing, "Oh, We are Volunteers." Rev. Hilbish led in prayer.

Master Fay Cole of Long Beach then delivered the welcome address.
He said:

He said:

Ladies and Gentlemen: In the behalf of my comrades of the Long Beach Band of Hope, I welcome you to Long Beach, the most charming resort on the Pacific Coast. I welcome you to our seaside home, the seat of the Alliance Assembly. I hope your stay with us will be a pleasant and profitable one.

Master Gerney Newman, the chair man, then introduced Harley Jordan, who delivered the opening address. Miss Eva Milligan followed with a recitation on "Intemperance."

Miss Ella Coryell then recited "We

Girls."

The entire band then joined in singing "Hark, the World is Hoarse with Wailing."

The recitation, "I'm Getting to be Quite a Man, You See," by Master Herbert Lewis, was very good.

Miss Ella Milligan recited "Silently Listening." in year tenching man.

Jamie Williams then favored the au dience with an instrumental march on the piano, which was followed by reci-tations by George Hazard and Elmer Jessup.

The Misses Ella Milligan, Lillian Briggs and Susie Noble then sang very aweetly "What Shall They Do." This was followed by a temperance rallying song on an accordion by Jame Williams.

Next was a recitation by Miss Helen Nelin, followed by a song, "I Stood on the Steps, Tom," by Misses Milligan and Charles.

The recitation, "What a Little Girl Can Do," by Lila Ethel Harris was very interesting.

In the evening the Los Angeles Band of Hope, under the leadership of Mrs. Lucy S. Blanchard, gave one of their entertainments, which, like all predecessors, was matchless. Each member rendered his part in a very creditable manner. Particularly worthy of mention was the chorus by the boys of the largest class. They showed much drilling and considerable talent. The violin solo by Charles Valentine was violin solo by Charles Valentine was very well rendered. The oratorical contest was very close. EDITOR WAITE. His Sudden Death at Santa Ana Yesterday. Coroner Meredith yesterday went down to Santa Ana, where he held an inquest on the body of James A. Waite, the editor and proprietor of the Santa Ana Herald, who died suddenly at that place early yesterday morning. Mr. Waite has not been in good health for some months past, being troubled with some affection of the stomach, but has always been able to attend to his wants. He retired as usual Thursday night, and nothing unusual transpired until between 4 and 5 o'clock the next morning, when W. R. Bailey, a triend morning, when W. R. Bailey, a friend of Waite's, who was sleeping in one of the rooms on the lower floor of the house, with the son of the deceased, heard a cry for assistance, and on going upstairs to Mr. Waite's room, found him lying on the floor in his night dress, gasping for breath, and apparently dying. Dr. Bailey was called in, but nothing could be done for Waite, and he died in a few minutes. The jury, after hearing the tacts, returned a verdict of death from natural causes.

Mr. Waite was 51 years of age at the time of his death, married, and a native of the State of Maine.

A Brutal Assault.

Big Ed Kinney, formerly driver of the Plaza engine, got into an ugly scrape yesterday. Kinney, it appears, some time ago purchased a pair of trousers from an old tailor on Arcadia street, for which he was to pay $10. He paid all but $1, which has been standing for some time. Yesterday morning the tailor asked Kinney for the meney, when he applied an opprobrious epithet to the old knight of the ahears, which the old fellow very properly resented, whereupon Kinney knocked him down and kicked him, and when he got up he knocked him down again. The old man then came down town and swore out a complaint against Kinney for assault, when a warrant was issued for his arrest. He was brought before Judge Stanton, when he pleaded guilty, and was fined $15, which was paid.

The assault was wholly unprovoked. The assault was wholly unprovoked, and was all the more unjustified from the fact that Kinney is one of the most powerful men in the city, whereas the tailor was not only a much smaller man but a great deal older.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria, When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria, When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria When she had Children, she gave them Castoria, NOTABLE YEATURES—It contains a business review of the year, embracing a strainass of valuable facts bearing on the city and county; a thorough exposition of ematural resources—mineral, vegetable, commercial and climatic; a review of the rise soft progress of the beam, with solid proofs that the country is now in better condition than it was during the height of the real-estate excitement; a carefully compiled exposition of the varied induces ents which Southern California offers to the health-sceker, the homesceker and the touvist, besides a number of interesting and valuable special articles on pertinent subjects. It contains more solid information about the country than could be crowded into the co.w.pass of a hundred long letters, and for a few cents and the expenditure of a few minutes; time in writing the address you can send a friend more information than you could write in a month, even if you had all the facts at hand. For a dollar you can supply ten fan ulies in the frozen Hast with information that may lead them to join the army of pilgrans to Southern California, to their own and this country sadvatage. Thus, whether viewed from the standpoint of friendship or self-interes 1. w.l. because that no better use can be made of a dollar than by purchasing the rewith ten copiej of the great Annual Trade Number of THE TIMES. Not one-tenth of the pleasure stable bestowed in any other way for the same amount of money.

Prizes- Revolutionary Measures - Clinton's Retreat - British Seizures-Defeat of James II.-Notable Births and Deaths-Sir

Today recalls two incidents of the French war scare of 1798-the abrogation of all treaties between the United States and France, and the passage of an act by Congress for the purchase of 30,000 stand of arms, to be stored at suitable points for purchase by the different States for the use of their

FRENCH PRIZES.

The arrival of Genet, the French Minister, in Philadelphia in the sum-Minister, in Philadelphia in the summer of 1793, caused Washington much trouble. Genet persisted in fitting out privateers which captured British vessels within the waters of the United States, and French consuls condemned the ships as prizes, regardless of the Government's prohibition. At length the Little Sarah, a captured British vessel, was brought to Philadelphia by Genet and fitted out as a privateer. Washington was at Mount Vernon, and Hamilton, being informed that the vessel would sail on the 7th, brought the matter before the Cabinet, which determined to forbid the departure of the vessel. The militia were called out and batteries planted to sweep the ship. Jefferson, however, interfered, and the troops were called off. The Little Sarah dropped down the river to Chester, and was thus out of reach of attack. of reach of attack.

REVOLUTIONARY WAR MEASURES. On July 6, 1775, the Continental Congress agreed upon the Articles of War, and issued a declaration of Causes of Conflict: "Our cause is causes of confict: "Our cause is just; our Union is perfect. Our internal resources are great, and, if necessary, foreign aid is obtainable. We have taken up arms in defense of the freedom that is our birthright, and not to establish independent States."

CLINTON'S RETREAT.

On his retreat from Phylodelphia in

On his retreat from Philadelphia, in June, 1778, Clinton found a short transportation to New York on Lord Howe's fleet. The retreat was not a Howe's fleet. The retreat was not a moment too soon. A few days later, July 6, 1778, Count D'Estaing arrived in the Delaware with a French fleet of twelve ships of the line and four frigates. This fleet, much superior to Lord Howe's, had on board 4000 Freuch soldiers, and the new French Envoy, M. Gerard, was also a passenger.

BRITISH SEIZURES IN 1812. Just before the adjournment of Congress, July 6, 1812, President Madison ransmitted to the House a document transpitted to the House a document showing that the vessels seized by Great Britain since the commencement of the European war numbered 917—528 before a d 389 since the Order-un-Council of November, 1807. The French seizures and captures amounted to 558—208 before and 317 under the Berlin and Milan decrees, and 45 since the alleged repeal of those decrees.

DEFEAT OF JAMES II.
On July 6, 1685, the first ragainst the revolutionary and desgovernment of James II. was cru by the defeat at Sedgmoor by the Duke of Monmouth, natural son of Charles II. It was thus reserved for the Prince of Orange to defeat James and put an end to arbitrary government.

NOTABLE BIRTHS AND DEATHS Today is memorable as the anniversary of the birth of John Flaxman, A sculptor, 1755; of the death of Henry II. of England, 1189; Pope Benedict XI., 1394; Sir Thoms More, beheaded, 1535; Edward VI. of England, 1565; Andrew Cross, the electrician, 1855; Sir Francis Palgrave, the historian, 1861.

SIR THOMAS MORE. pointed Lord Chancellor in place of Cardinal Wolsey, he enjoyed the King's Cardinal Wolsey, he enjoyed the King's confidence in the highest degree. Though liberal minded, More was a staunch believer in the Pope's supremacy, and dreaded heresy; and when Henry opposed the Pope's will and decree by marrying Anne Boleyn, More resigned his Chancellorship. Although the ex-Chancellor preserved a discreet silence, the motive of his resignation was evident, but threats and persuasion were equally unavailing. Persistent refusal to approve the King's marriage cost Sir Thomas his life.

INSECTS FROM STONE.

INSECTS FROM STONE.

While Andrew Crosse was engaged in the construction of a variety of minerals by subjecting various matters in the construction of a variety of minerals by subjecting various matters held in solution to electrical action, in 1837, he hit upon a discovery which made him famous. Having mixed two ounces of powdered flint with six ounces of carbonate of potassa, fused them together in a strong heat, then reduced the compound to powder and dissolved it in boiling water, he obtained a silicate of potassa, a portion of which he diluted in boiling water, slowly adding hydrochloric acid to a state of supersaturation. This fluid he subjected to a long-continued electric action, in order to form crystals of silica through the intervention of a porus stone. On the fourteenth day, he observed through a lens a few small whitish excresences projecting from the middle of the electrified stone. On the eighteenth day the projections had become enlarged and stuck out seven or eight filaments. On the twenty-sixth day they assumed the forms of perfect insects standing erect on a few bristles, which were their tails. On the twenty-eighth day they moved their legs, and soon after detached themselves from the stone and began to move about. In the course of a few weeks a hundryd insects had made their appearance. The smaller ones had six legs and the larger ones eight, and were pronounced as belonging to the genus accarus. Mr. Crosse repeated the experiment several times, taking every precaution to destroy all traces of life, but the accar reappeared at each experiment. Others tried with even greater care for the destruction of imperceptible germs, but still the acar came to life, walked about, fed, multiplied, and only died after frost. The discussion to which these discoveries gave rise has never been concluded. Crosse himself advanced no theery, drew no inferences. these discoveries gave rise has never been concluded. Crosse himself ad-vanced no theory, drew no inferences, and attacked no established belief.

Mr. Krohn fully upheld the fame of Los Angeles, capturing the 12th prize, C. Schuster, the San Francisco champion, taking the 26th. Something of Mr. Krohn's standing as an athlete may be judged when it is stated that he was brought in competition with 1600 picked men from the Turner societies all over the United States, and to come out twelfth in such a contest is proof positive of his merit. We have introduced the compound oxygen treatment with our systems of practice in the cure of Asthma. Bronchitis, Consumption, Dyspepsia, Insomnia, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Rheumatism and Nervous Prostration, while only the most improved methods are employed in all female complaints.

As is well known, Oxygen is the life-giving principle in the air we breathe, and Ozone in the air imparts that happy and buoyant feeling after thunder storms. The testimonials given below are very fair samples as to the time required for effecting cures in these troublesome cases:

Dr. Witt-ams—Dran Stat; I am happy to say that the cure you effected in me for a severe case of throat disease has proved to be permanent.
